

A FUN KINDNESS CHALLENGE TO

make kindness the norm.™

AT HOME & IN YOUR NEIGHBORHOOD

FOR AGES 0-12

THE
LIKE
YOU!

You are an amazing person that sees opportunities to be kind everywhere you go; smiling at strangers, picking up trash in your neighborhood, helping out the adults in your life when they need you and lots of other kind acts you do every day. You are a true champion of kindness!

We are so excited for you to have fun while doing the ideas and activities in this book. Hopefully, completing this challenge will not only be fun for you, but will inspire others to explore the good in the world to help make kindness the norm!

Ready? Turn the page to see how this challenge works!

KINDNESS CHALLENGE

Your kindness challenge (if you choose to accept it) is to complete 10 acts of kindness during the next 10 days. Sounds simple at first, but you are probably already super busy with school, chores, sports and hanging out with friends, so doing an extra something on top of all that for 10 straight days is a good challenge we think—but one we know you can do.

On the next page and throughout this book, you'll see some fun acts of kindness you can do for others and yourself. You can choose to do the suggested ones each day or think up your own.

Use this section to keep track of your progress—for each act of kindness you do, color in a heart and make a note of which act you did and how you felt or how the other person reacted.

At the end of your 10 days, be sure to send a photo of this page to us so we can give you a shout-out to help inspire others to be kind.

ACTS OF KINDNESS

Here are some suggested acts of kindness you can do to complete this challenge. There's a mix of things you do for yourself (self-care) and things you can do for others. You can choose to do any of these for any day of your challenge or think up your own.

RESPECT

- Leave a nice note for the mail carrier
- Make a card for your favorite teacher
- Call your grandparents
- Write someone a letter the old-fashioned way, then mail it
- Hold the door open for someone
- Spend time in nature—check out our scavenger hunt
- Say 'thank you' to someone who made your meal possible

CARING

- Make a homemade card or gift for a friend
- Mail a postcard to a relative
- Hug your parent or caregiver for no reason
- Eat a healthy lunch or dinner
- Wash your hands
- Cover your mouth when you cough

INCLUSIVENESS

- Make sure everyone is included during playtime
- Share your toys
- Learn about a culture other than your own and discuss any questions you have with family and friends
- Draw a picture with your favorite art supplies and send it to someone in the mail.

INTEGRITY

- Say hello to three people today
- Create a time capsule with special memories and items to be opened at a way later date (like your high school graduation or quinceañera)
- Compliment five people or more
- Send a family photo to your grandparents (photography or hand drawn)

RESPONSIBILITY

- Pick up litter (be safe and sanitary)
- Help out around the house without being asked
- Clean up after yourself
- Arrange a video visit with elderly relatives
- Write a letter to yourself at futureme.org

COURAGE

- Ask someone how they are, then really listen to their reply
- Tell a friend how much they mean to you
- Take a goofy picture with family...just for fun
- Smile at 10 people
- Write a list of things you love about someone, then give it to them
- Complete the 'what would you do if you knew you could not fail' writing prompt.

RESPECT ACTIVITY

WRITE A LETTER TO AN ELDER

LOVE FOR OUR ELDERs is an organization that accepts hand-written cards & letters and delivers to elders in need across the globe.

For this activity, find your favorite pens, pencils, markers or crayons and use your creativity to decorate an envelope. You could even cut out fun images from magazines to make a collage. Make sure the mail carrier can still read the address!

Visit LoveForOurElders.org to review their guidelines then write a letter and send it to them in the awesome envelope you made! You'll for sure make someone's day when they receive your heart-felt creation.

RESPECT WRITING PROMPT

WRITE DOWN OR DRAW THREE THINGS THAT YOU DO TO TAKE CARE OF YOURSELF EACH DAY.

Once you are done with your list, check it over to see if there is anything you could add to practice better self-care? Make a note of it here so you can try to include those things.

DON'T FEED THE DUCKS (THE WRONG STUFF)

Most people feed ducks plain bread when they go to the park. Even though ducks gobble it up, bread isn't great for them and can actually make them sick.

The reason for that is that bread doesn't contain the right nutrition or calories ducks need to survive. It can also make them think they are full which causes them to not eat the nutrition dense foods they would normally find on their own.

But don't worry, you can still feed the ducks if you choose the right thing to feed them. They love half cut seedless grapes, chopped pieces of lettuce, birdseed (they are birds after all), peas, corn, and even uncooked oats.

Now that you know what to feed the ducks instead of plain bread, give it a try and see for yourself! Visit a park or lake that has ducks in your town and feed them something healthy from the list above.

INCLUSIVENESS ACTIVITY

ADD A DASH OF KINDNESS

In the space below, write five normal things you do during the day. Then, next to each one, write the same task again but with an added dash of kindness.

For example, "Floss & brush teeth" might get transformed into "Think of five things I'm grateful for while flossing and brushing." This is an excellent exercise to think of ways to incorporate kindness (for others and yourself) into your daily routine.

MAKING A NEW FRIEND

Imagine you are going to lunch at school and you see a new student sitting alone at a table. They are not in your class, but look like they are in your same grade. You decide to walk up to them and ask to sit by them. Use the space below to write what you could talk about to make them feel included. What questions could you ask them? What would you tell them about yourself to maybe find things you both have in common?

KINDNESS ROCKS

Decorate rocks with positive sayings or inspiring drawings (rainbows, happy faces, etc.) then place them in public places in your neighborhood for others to discover. A fun idea is to paint 'TURN ME OVER' on a rock with 'YOU ARE AWESOME' on the other side. Just imagine how happy someone will be to find your messages.

For this activity, you'll need to find some rocks you can paint. Smooth rocks work best, but you can use any texture or shape you want. You'll also need some acrylic paint or permanent marker and (maybe) the help of an adult. If you have some paint sealer, that can prolong the life of your painted messages.

(Chores, schoolwork, etc.) List them below and rate yourself on a scale of 1-5 in terms of how well you follow through (even when no one is watching).

RESPONSIBILITY ACTIVITY

EXPLORE THE GOOD

For this activity, set out on foot and explore your neighborhood with your parent or guardian. Pretend you are a tourist and this is your first time visiting your town. Go places you haven't been and look for things you've never noticed before. Do you smell anything interesting? What noises do you hear?

While you are out, put on some gloves and safely pick up any litter you might find and throw it away or recycle it. If you have fun on your first outing, be sure to make it a regular adventure.

MY RESPONSIBILITIES

What responsibilities do you have right now? What do you think would happen if you stopped doing these things? In the space below, write or draw your answers.
